Announcement: DTC Awards Nominations

Nominate your peers, instructors, and/or yourself for DTC Awards! The deadline to submit your nominations is Friday, April 24th. See the award categories and submit nominations at this link: https://wsu.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_3RhAShpq0iouMfP

Small Group Assignments for Zoom Sessions This Week

PLEASE STAY ON THE CALL TO HEAR ALL MEMBERS OF YOUR SMALL GROUP. The point is to hear what other students are thinking.

This Thursday, 4/23 we will meet in small groups and talk about your Modular Type Designs so far. For the most part, groups are similar to last time, but a few people have been moved around, so look closely please. Please zoom in at the start of the 20-minute session to which you are assigned (see below). Be ready to share your responses to the following questions. Your instructor will call on you when it is your turn:

1. Show examples of some of the letters you have designed so far for this assignment. Put them together in words if possible. Have them open in Illustrator if you are using that program.

2. Describe the modular system you are using and how you think it affects the look of your letters.

3. What are you happy with and why? What would you like to refine?

 If you cannot share your screen to show your examples, you may submit a file or files to your "YourLastName-YourFirstName" shared OneDrive folder and your instructor will share them for you while you talk.

To Do List for Week 14

1. Read this document carefully and watch the Week 14 video. Please email me if you have questions: kristin.carlson@wsu.edu

2. You should be designing your letters for the Final Project: Modular Typeface Design (https://kristinbeckerdtc.com/dtc-336/final-project/), using the modular system you have created for yourself. Make modifications and refine your modular system once you see how it works with a variety of types of letters (letters with ascenders/descenders, letters with rounded sides and straight sides, letters with angular edges, capital letters, etc). Put your letters into words to see how effective they are. You will share a few samples of your designed letters either this Thursday or next Thursday in our small group Zoom sessions.

3. Prepare to share some of your designs for the Modular Typeface Design project in your assigned small group zoom session this Thursday or next Thursday (see above section called Small Group Assignments for Zoom Sessions This Week). You will go again next week if you don't go this week. Have your file open and ready before you share your screen in Zoom, or send your files to your instructor via your shared OneDrive folder (yourlastname-yourfirstname folder) if you can't share your screen.

4. Read "Hierarchy" and "Time and Motion" chapters from Graphic Design: the New Basics as you think about your final presentation for your Modular Typeface Design.

5. Nominate your peers or yourself for DTC Awards: https://wsu.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_3RhAShpq0iouMfP
